Labor, Management Units to Discuss SUB Measure in Ohio

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Labor and management big guns open a barrage tonight in the Ohio Legislature to blast away a legal barrier to supplemental unemployment benefits (SUB).

The opening hearing on the SUB measure in the Senate comes only a day after Gov. Michael V. DiSalle urged action on the matter "at the earliest possible moment."

The SUB bill is sponsored by two of the senate's most influential Democrats, Majority Leader Frank W. King of Toledo and Sen. Charles J. Carney of Youngstown. It would permit a laid-off worker to receive state unemployment compensation and SUB from his employer at the same time.

The Ohio Supreme Court has held that SUB is remuneration and must be deducted from state benefits. Steel, rubber and auto firm representatives are expected to join labor in urging legislation to permit SUB in Ohio.

Two Houses Paused

Instead of taking headlong action, the two legislative houses pause to take a second look at two bills asking a total of 13½ million dollars — 3 millions for emergency flood relief and 10½ millions to cover the state share of regular poor relief for the rest of the fiscal year which ends June 30.

The House wants assurances the 3 millions won't duplicate Red Cross aid to flood sufferers. The Senate wants to be sure the 10½ millions will do the whole relief job for the rest of the fiscal year.

Indications at the close of the first hearing on Carney's fair employment practices (FEP) bill were that it will be before the

GOP Accepts DiSalle Plea

Pledges Opposition To Be Constructive

By DUANE E. CROFT

COLUMBUS — Leaders of the Republican minority in the 103rd Ohio General Assembly Tuesday night accepted Democratic Gov. Michael V. DiSalle's challenge to follow a policy of "constructive opposition."

Speaking at a legislative dinner given by the Republican state central committee, House Minority Leader Roger Cloud agreed with Ohio GOP Chairman Ray Bliss that such a policy is the shortest road back to majority status.

Senate Minority Leader C. Stanley Mechem was less optimistic about how soon the Republicans would regain control of the legislature, but promised that his colleagues would not be "obstructionists."

Gov. DiSalle, speaking at a luncheon two weeks ago, advised the GOP leadership of the assembly to offer "constructive criticism" of this program and said that was the best way to overcome the defeat of last November.

At Tuesday night's affair, Cloud said constructive opposition means supporting those majority proposals that have merit and vigorously taking issue with those which the minority feels are not in the best interest of Ohioans.

Plan Party Rejuvenation

The dinner followed a two-hour meeting of the central committee to map a program of party rejuvenation.

At a press conference, Bliss reported the first step in the program will be a probing search for the factors involved in the GOP's loss to the Democrats in November. He said an objective profes-

Leetonia Flood Project Is Pushed

LEETONIA — Expediting of the Leetonia flood project was stressed when Mayor Ralph Kennedy and Don R. Gosney conferred yesterday.

Mr. Gosney, district secretary to Congressman Wayne L. Hays, reported Mr. Hays had stated that the federal government had set aside $81,400 Nov. 6, 1957 to be used to dredge the creeks in the village.

The project, approved by the local officials last October, will include state, county and village participation in raising the bridges in the village.

Congressman Hays is in contact with the Army engineers at Pittsburgh to speed the project and have an early completion date. He stated that his office is cooperating with the village and county officials on the problem and that the federal money for the work has been set aside.

Leetonia officials have presented a $1,650 flood damage claim to the federal government, but at a district meeting yesterday in Alliance it was indicated that only $165 would be allowed.

Space Experts File Report

Scientists Predict '69 Moon Landing

WASHINGTON (AP)—Fifty top scientists peered into space today and saw a man on the moon—perhaps by 1969.

Or man may set foot on the moon in 1965 and zoom on to Mars and Venus three years later. That is assuming space projects get very high priority and a billion dollars a year, says Herbert F. York, the Pentagon's research chief.

The views of York and other space experts, including five from other free world countries, were issued in a report by the House Space Committee on "The Next 10 Years in Space."

The report asked, "Where does fantasy end and reality begin?"

2 Badly Hurt In Route 18 Collision

Three persons were injured, two seriously, in an auto-truck crash at the intersection of Ingleside Ave. and Rt. 18, two and a half miles west of Youngstown, at 1 a.m. today.

Injured and in serious condition at Youngstown South Side hospital are:

Norma Hunt, 26, of Youngstown; lacerations of the head and an amputated left leg.

Wesley Rosser, 27, of Youngstown, driver of the car; fractured skull and lacerations of the scalp and right foot.

The truck driver, Donald Alexander, 39, of Winamac, Ind., was treated at South Side Hospital and released.

State patrolmen said the accident occurred when Rosser headed north on Ingleside Ave., drove into the path of Alexander's semi-trailer rig which was headed east on Rt. 18.

The impact demolished the car and caused the tomato soup and catsup laden truck to turn over.

Patrolmen report that one east-bound lane of Rt. 18 remains closed to traffic while crews work to right the vehicle.

Mishap on Route 7

In another accident investigated by state highway patrol a steel-laden semi-trailer rig went out of control on a curve on Rt. 7, six miles south of Rogers, at 4:45 a.m. today.

Patrolmen said the vehicle driven by Anthony Scarford, 49, of Weirton, W. Va., had been going too fast to negotiate the curve.

Scarford was treated for lacerations of the forehead and eye and multiple contusions and abrasions at East Liverpool City Hospital and released.

He was cited for reckless operation, patrolmen said.

Primary Candidates Are Slow In Filing

With only 51 candidates entered officially for the May 5 primaries in eight cities and villages, about 150 are expected to file in the week remaining before the deadline Feb. 4 at 5 p.m. Frank O'Hanlon, clerk of the County Election Board, said today.

He estimated today that only about 25 per cent of the candidates the board expects have filed their petitions. In the last similar election two years ago, a total of 197 candidates was listed, he pointed out.

Meanwhile, the board issued a call today for printers' bids on ballots for the primaries and poll books for both the May voting and November general election.

The bids will be received until 2 p.m. Feb. 9.

Primaries will be held in May in four cities and four largest villages. The communities are Salem, East Liverpool, Wellsville and East Palestine cities and Lisbon, Salineville, Leetonia and Columbiana villages.

March of Dimes Drive Will Be Continued

The March of Dimes drive in the northern half of Columbiana County will be extended another week through Feb. 7, Chairman William Wark announced today.

Mr. Wark said many communities were not visited because of bad weather and flood conditions. The drive was extended so that solicitors might visit these communities.

First Spaceman Is Being Sought

110 U.S. Candidates Have Been Selected

NEW YORK (AP)—Selection of America's first human space traveler is under way.

T. Keith Glennan, U.S. space chief, startled a staid dinner meeting of the Institute of Aeronautical Sciences with this disclosure Tuesday night.

The new federal space agency, he said, has picked 110 rugged young Americans as candidates for the first manned satellite to orbit the earth.

They will assemble in Washington for further tests, Glennan said, and be asked to volunteer for space flight. Within three months, their ranks will be reduced to about a dozen.

"I suspect that the one who will make the flight will not know he is to do so until count-down day," he added.

He said he does not know whether this country will get a man into orbit before the Soviet Union.

"The Russians have been at it somewhat longer than we have, and it is wholly possible they will beat us into space," Glennan told newsmen later.

The 110 potential American space pioneers were not listed by name, Glennan gave these qualifications of the man who finally will be selected:

1. A university degree in physical science or engineering.
2. A graduate of an Air Force or Navy test pilot training school with at least 1,500 flying hours.
3. Superb condition, with the physical and psychological attributes suited for space flight as determined by aero-medical scientists.
4. Younger than 40 and no taller than 5 feet 11. There are no weight restrictions.

On the last point, the stockily built Glennan smiled and told newsmen: "I'd like to qualify myself."

Candidates for manned space flight will be known as Mercury astronauts. The United States' manned satellite program is known as Project Mercury.

Reds Talking of 'Cold War Thaw'

U.S. to Investigate Russian 'Illusion'

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of State John Foster Dulles said today every Soviet proposal for ending the cold war has been aimed at undercutting free world resistance to communism.

Dulles said there is nothing the

U.S. to Investigate Russian 'Illusion'

United States will not do—including a summit meeting with the Soviets—if it holds a reasonable prospect of promoting peace.

But he warned against any agreement between the two top world powers "which would give many unwary people a sense of relief, and a feeling that our nation need no longer make the efforts and sacrifices that are now called for."

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States intends to explore fully the Soviet Union's talk of a cold war thaw despite an officially expressed belief here that Moscow is simply trying to create an illusion of peace.

This country and its chief Western allies are preparing for a wide open high level East-West conference on German and related European issues which diplomats now consider probable in about three months.

Secretary of State Dulles told a news conference Tuesday that so far the Soviet government has demonstrated "a very strong desire to delude us into thinking the cold war is ended," but no interest in proposals to end it.

Nevertheless, he said, he thinks it is timely to have another meeting.

Mrs. Ortiz was booked on the kidnapping charge at 2:15 a.m. after being under questioning for 11 hours and in custody since early Tuesday. The woman complained of spitting blood.

The woman, Asst. Dist. Atty. Salvatore D'Amico said, made a "full statement."

Police said earlier that she had confessed kidnapping John Tavaraz last Thursday when he was only 24 days old.

The baby's mother, Mrs. Jose Tavaraz, 31, said she could not forgive the abductor.

Mrs. Ortiz told police she had wanted an infant to replace one she said she lost in a recent miscarriage.

Preliminary hospital checks, police said, did not indicate that Mrs. Ortiz had had a miscarriage. The kidnapped baby was found in the Ortiz family's basement apartment in Manhattan.

The infant was kidnapped last Thursday while the mother went on a search for more desirable living quarters.

LISBON—Samuel Robert Hurst, 25, of New Waterford, was bound over to April Grand Jury under $1,000 bond by County Judge James L. McDonald for breaking and entering Carter's Market on Route 7, south of East Fairfield.

Hurst was cited by Sheriff Russell J. VanFossan for the breaking and entering on Aug. 5, 1958. He pleaded guilty.

Carter's Market also was broken into early last Thursday morning and about $68 in groceries, cigarettes, candy and $1 in change was taken. This burglary is unsolved.

Holiday Halts Trials in Cuba

Jose Marti Nation's 'George Washington'

HAVANA (AP)—The third show case war crimes trial of Batista army officers was postponed today for celebrations of the 10th birthday of Jose Marti, Cuba's George Washington.

A military tribunal considering an appeal from the first Batista sentenced to death in the capital, ex-MJ. Jesus Soza Blanco, also suspended its deliberations, apparently to await new defense evidence.

The second defendant, ex-Capt. Pedro Morejon, also was expected to appeal the death sentence given him early Tuesday.

Officials of Fidel Castro's revolutionary army meanwhile announced arrests at five different places on charges of plotting to overthrow the new regime. Large supplies of weapons and ammunition also were seized, the officials reported.

Details of the alleged plot were not made public, but authorities said reunions of subversive elements had been held in various places. The plotters presumably were followers of ex-president Fulgencio Batista, the ousted dictator.

There was some speculation whether the third Havana war crimes trial would start Thursday after the Marti birthday holiday.

The defendant is former Lt. Col. Ricardo Luis Grao, 45, charged—as Soza Blanco and Morejon were—with assassination, homicide, and robbery. The new regime had called the three the top war criminals of the estimated 1,500 persons arrested since Batista fled Jan. 1.

Leetonia Unhurt In Crash Fatal to Woman

A 64-year-old mineral ridge woman was killed instantly Tuesday morning in a highway mishap which occurred on Route 46, four-tenths of a mile south of Niles.

The victim, Mrs. Irene C. Williamson, was a passenger in a car driven by her husband, Alton L. Williamson, 63. The driver lost control of the southbound vehicle causing it to slide sideways into the path of a coal truck driven by Willis L. Guy, 37, of RD 1, Leetonia.

The northbound truck struck the car, throwing Mrs. Williamson from the vehicle, into the path of the truck.

Mrs. Williamson was pronounced dead at the scene by the Trumbull County coroner.

Mr. Williamson was taken to the Green Cross Hospital in Warren for treatment of lacerations of the head, left hand and body bruises.

The truck driver, employed by the Industrial Mining and Engineering Co. of Lisbon, was not held.

20-Point Plan Aimed at Cure Of Differences

Taft-Hartley Bans Are Tightened by President's Proposal

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower today urged Congress to enact a 20-point program designed to eliminate labor-management abuses.

In a special message, Eisenhower called his program a complete and effective approach to the problem. He said it is not a piecemeal program.

He also declared it is "essential to assure the American public that true, responsible collective bargaining can be carried on with full protection to the rights and freedoms of workers and with adequate guarantees of the public interest."

"These recommendations, when adopted, should do much to eliminate those abuses and improper practices, which, I am firmly convinced, the American public expects and believes will be corrected through legislative action," he said.

"Equally important, they will do so without imposing arbitrary restrictions or punitive measures on the legitimate activities of honest labor and management officials."

Some of the changes Eisenhower proposed were asked by labor unions, others by employers.

Eisenhower's recommendations signaled the start of a congressional battle with sharp political overtones.

A bill already introduced by Sen. John F. Kennedy (D Mass) was termed a half measure by the President Tuesday.

In his message, Eisenhower proposed tightening Taft-Hartley bans against certain forms of picketing and secondary boycotts—matters not included in Kennedy's bill.

Getting in ahead of the President, an AFL-CIO spokesman told Congress today that such picketing and boycott proposals would endanger passage of any labor bill this session. The AFL-CIO made it clear it would fight any new picketing and boycott bans.

Andrew J. Biemiller, AFL-CIO legislative representative, outlined that stand before a Senate Labor subcommittee an hour and a half ahead of the presidential message.

The President's recommendations generally, however, were along the lines believed acceptable to labor. In fact, he offered one surprise—a Taft-Hartley law change designed to speed up union representation elections. This would make it somewhat easier for unions to obtain bargaining rights from employers.

Like the administration's bill last year—and like the Kennedy measure this year, the President's new proposals call for detailed accounting to the government of union fund spending, with heavy penalties for fraud.

Eisenhower's program:

1. A requirement that all unions file such detailed annual reports with the Labor Department—as well as with union members

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—This is the period when a special kind of entry, on greenish-blue paper, appears frequently in the book where decisions and orders of the State Board of Tax Appeals are noted. It represents the board's reply to applications by county treasurers for more time. More time, that is, for taxpayers to pay real estate taxes. To date, 41 of Ohio's 88 counties have applied. About half of them do every year.

Ohio Cinderella Trial Nears End

Cincinnati Mother Defendant in Case

CINCINNATI (AP)—A tempest in a teapot — it's a very trite expression but it seems to fit what has become known as the trial of a "Cinderella." The trial should reach its end today.

"Cinderella" is Mrs. Janet Greenroos, a part and pretty 28-year-old mother of three who played the fairy-tale part on the "Uncle" Al Lewis kiddie television show on Cincinnati station WCPO TV.

"Cinderella" is charged with disorderly conduct in connection with a disturbance at the station studio last Oct. 28.

She had been fired the day before and claims she only went to the studio to pick up her belongings.

A disorderly conduct charge is usually processed quickly in court. And conviction carries at most a $100 fine and costs.

But this trial has assumed comic opera proportions.

First there was a demand for a jury. Then there was a mistrial. That was last Jan. 19. Two days have now passed in a second trial and it still isn't finished.

The mistrial came when Defense Attorney Harry Abrams sought to question M. C. Watters, general manager of the station, about "personal feelings" between him and "Cinderella" over a long period of time.

Tuesday, attorneys steered completely away from the behind-the-scenes subject.

Tr jurors were taken to the scene of the incident, then they heard a city detective and a private policeman tell their stories.

Marion Blandford, the private said he had been instructed to keep Mrs. Greenroos from entering the premises.

He said he told her she could not enter the studio but when she insisted, he took her by the arm twice. Abrams claimed in his opening statements that Blandford twisted the young woman's arm and that she almost fell.

City Detective Bernard Kersker said he was sent to the studio and that he also asked her to leave, but she insisted she was going into the studio. He said they had to carry her to his police car.

Blandford signed the affidavit against "Cinderella" after she was taken to the police station.

John Sweeney, personnel and office manager of the station, testified that Mrs. Greenroos was fired Oct. 27 but he didn't say and he wasn't asked what led to the dismissal.

Railroad Industry Eyes Battle With St. Lawrence Seaway

CLEVELAND (AP)—The railroad industry is getting ready to cut freight rates in a battle against the St. Lawrence Seaway. A new rate package should be ready by summer, says a New York Central executive.

"The railroad industry does not plan to take the seaway lying down," Arthur S. Baylis, freight rates and services vice president of the New York Central System, declared.

"If we can help in its demise, we'll do it," he told a seaway symposium at John Carroll University Tuesday.

A sample of the rate cuts Baylis said are being considered. A cut of 10 per cent on unboxed automobiles bound for Liverpool, a cut of 40 to 50 per cent on overseas grain shipments, 24 per cent on ammonium nitrate and 20 per cent on lard.

These are tentative, he stressed, since final details of seaway operations and rates are now known.

"By summer we will have a new rate package that will build the railroads up and protect our investment," Baylis said.

Other adjustments are being considered, he said, which might include...

Ohio Should Be Planning It That Way

Gov. DiSalle thinks his proposal for a department of industrial and economic development is the most important change in the organization of state government in the last 25 years.

It could very well be as important as he thinks it is if he can get it started on the right foot. Every troublesome problem that confronts Ohioans would come within the jurisdiction of such a department.

Ohio's tax policy, for example, is a key factor in the development of industry and business. The climate of industrial relations also has direct bearing on the state's well-being and its prospects of progress. The governor says he hopes to bring together representatives of the public labor and management to talk about the state's growth.

As to taxes, always the touchiest policy matter, the DiSalle administration is wisely staying clear of early commitments. Gov. DiSalle says what is obvious, that if Ohio continues to spend more and more money it must find new tax sources. But except for opposing a state income tax, he does not say what the new sources should be.

Neither does he say Ohio should back away from expanded spending; he specifically mentions poor relief, aid to the aged, the school foundation fund and mental hygiene as needs that must be met.

THE GREATEST contribution that DiSalle could make to the state's continued financial health would be a clear concept of its financial responsibility.

It could clear up, for instance, the cloudy concept of what the state does with its money. Under an allocation system that Ohioans never have understood clearly, two thirds or more of the money paid to the state must be returned to schools and local governments. Due to the development of earmarked taxes. Furthermore millions of dollars are outside the general fund and must be used for specific purposes.

The school people always clamor for more than they can get. So do spokesmen for local government, with a view to making it appear that Columbus is being stingy with money that belongs to them.

Local tax-spenders continually put the state government under the lash for not giving them more to spend. But if they were challenged to defend the state government in a demand for more and higher taxes, they would be the first to accuse it of spendthrift tendencies.

OHIO DOES NOT have a clear picture of state finances. Its ideas about responsibility for schools and local government are foggy.

Gov. DiSalle will be the state's first four-year administrator—the first governor who will not have to start running for re-election at the end of his first year on the job. He will have a chance to carry through some basic improvements.

Nothing he could do would be a bigger boost for industrial and economic development than to give his state an uncluttered comprehension of its tax structure and the state and local uses to which revenue is put.

That would be the most important change in the organization of state government for the last 50 years, not merely 25 years.

An Idea Not Exactly New

The National Assn. of Manufacturers seems suspicious of a subversive plot because a broadcasting company did a documentary on the use of sex in business deals in New York City.

It feels that such an allegation could have been made only by labor unionists, politicians, or both and has made slurs against the narrator of the documentary that will not sit well with him and members of his occupation.

Most of all, though, the association seems to resent the aid and comfort that may be given to labor unions desperate for a diversion to offset the McClellan committee's disclosures of the seamy side of business. As a matter of fact, if the material in the broadcasting company's documentary was substantially correct, the McClellan committee would be well advised to look into it as an aspect of the seamy side of business.

It seems significant that the NAM has taken umbrage not on the grounds that the material was completely false but on the grounds that it may give aid and comfort to the labor union critics of business.

There are, to be sure, some labor unionists who feel that same way about disclosures of unionism's seamy side — that the diodes of unionism's cutups are relatively unimportant, except as they give businessmen something to hold against unionism.

Certainly the best commentary on the whole affair was the reaction of the New York police department and the Internal Revenue Service in the New York district. Both were interested enough to say they would do everything in their power to clamp down on a condition that had been freshly called to their attention. The idea, after all, is not exactly new.

One of the early victims was a fellow named Samson, who was in the wrecking business until he made the acquaintance of a Philistine charmer named Delilah, who was in the employ of the syndicate.

It Sounds a Little Sappy, But...

There is the first robin.
There is the pre-training season whoop-de-doo of the baseball clubs.

There is the annual disintegration of streets and highways.

There are floods, high winds, fashion shows, the exodus to Florida and gun-jumping advertisements for power mowers and outdoor swimming pools.

All of these are harbingers of spring — signs that winter has come and spring cannot be far behind.

But if you ever lived in the "sugar bush," or if you even know what a "sugar bush" is, there's a more reliable harbinger.

Nature, herself, gives the signal for the sap to start rising in the sugar maples. The time is variable. It depends on moisture, temperature, sunlight and all the other elements in the conspiracy of springtime.

But Nature knows what she is doing; she has the final word on springtime.

Within a few days, President Eisenhower will receive new-made maple syrup from sap that rose last week on the farm of Howard Taylor in Geauga County. The next batch of syrup, which will be made from the next upward surge of sap caused by rising temperatures and warm rains, will go to Gov. DiSalle. It sounds a little sappy, but it's part of

Once Over

Phones all over the country have been tied up for a week by housewives in "missus-to-missus" talks about Ed Murrow's recent broadcast chiding "sinful fringe" to New York business conventions and big deal conferences.

Up to now the announcement "I've gotta go to New York on business" has drawn from the wife a mere "Remember what those martinis do to you, Gilbert." "Watch yourself crossing those busy streets" and "Don't forget your tranquilizers."

Skeptical wife might just ask "Why does the company always send you on these serious missions?" But through 1959 an "off-to-the-convention" approach will bring a chilling glare and a firm "Izzat so! Now hear this!" "Business conference, eh?" the little woman will sneer. "Where's it being held, Sodom or Gomorrah, this season? What's the big industrial problem on the agenda for 1959, the autumn outlook in the Queen of Sheba situation or an expansion of the company's Delilah-Lothario program?"

She may add: "Are the directors startled by a blonde or brunette crisis?"

OVER AT LEAST 150 radio stations Murrow, hitherto noted for excursions among the world's great opera stars, prime ministers, artists, poets literary notables etc. shocked the family circles by an exposure of the guysterial was completely false but on the grounds that it may give aid and comfort to the labor union critics of business.

And it's official. Sap has been running in Geauga County. The "sugar bush" is coming alive. It's the first harbinger of spring that is absolutely reliable. Nature knows best.

Plight of the Man Afoot

Consider yourself lucky if you haven't been splashed by a passing automobile on a wet or slushy street this winter.

Sometimes this can't be avoided but too frequently a pedestrian finds himself the hapless victim of a motorist who lacks the courtesy to slow down and "kersplash," you've had it!

As you survey your spattered togs, realizing that only your dry cleaner will be happy about the whole thing, you have an urge to chase the driver and push him into a snowdrift. You don't though because you've convinced yourself in the next few seconds that it really was an accident... that is, until you get to the next corner and another wizard at the wheel sends you scurrying for cover.

When you see a pedestrian next time, slow down. He can't swim.

and-dolls' shenanigans at business conventions.

It was a disturbing switch from "Person to Person" to "Orgy to Orgy" and from "Small World" to "Big Whirl."

If anybody else had done it the impact would have been minor but Edward has prestige and a rep for truth and authenticity.

His program featuring charges by glamorous but anonymous hussies that many a business executive puts "Bacchanalian Outlook" and "Romantic Situation" on his agenda stirred the nation.

Businessmen are having tough time with wives. They had better demand equal time.

"FLOYD PATTERSON To Meet Ingemar Johansson Swedish Challenger" — headline. The challenger's name is familiar but who is that other fellow?

Autoist to wife as gasoline taxes mount: "Let's take the car and go for a ride through our devastated budget."

George Gobel is hilarious in the part of a Florida promoter of underwater lots in fictitious "Happy Harbor, Utopia of the Pooped." "Live here and feel the cool ecstasy of quicksand working up through your toes, often up to your knees," he urged. "You can live on $50 a month and make a living catching fish in your attic at high tide. I'll be glad to welcome you to this development where I am working, under my indictment."

Murrow's Show Lacked Evidence

By Westbrook Pegler

Egbert Murrow's wide-angle smear of business men who spend more or less time "on the road" and of countless young women virtuously employed in city offices, has put him and the Columbia Broadcasting System in a strange fix.

If they know whereof certain anonymous voices spoke in Murrow's CBS radio exploit, "The Business of Sex," they are bound by law, to say nothing of Murrow's honor, to state the facts under oath to the grand jury.

If the show was a fake and the feminine speakers were not prostitutes and the males the sort of things that they were represented to be then all concerned were guilty of a massive fraud. And Murrow, in either case, would have been guilty of fouling the names and reputations of thousands of men and women on the word of anonymous, faceless accusers of the lowest moral category known to man.

Comments On Benson Article

I was impressed by the article in your Saturday paper by Dr. George S. Benson entitled, "Poison for the Mind."

He mentioned a church organization which had sponsored a declaration that the United States should recognize Communist China and admit her to the U.N. Dr. Benson asked, "what kind of thinking leads a church group to urge recognition of a nation guilty of so many brutalities?"

May I point out that only ungodly thinking could lead us to desire fellowship with God-haters. Unfortunately, too many people and some religious leaders have only a head knowledge of religion and no real repentance. I would personally like to assure Dr. Benson, though I think he more than suspects it, that people calling themselves a church group are not necessarily so, for a church is "a body of believers in Jesus Christ."

Matter of Fact

The Gulf Stream, the most famous of all ocean currents, moves northward along the coast of the eastern United States and carries warmth across the North Atlantic Ocean to northwest Europe. It has been described as the greatest river in the world, a warm river with banks and bottom of cold water. Actually, it is larger than all the rivers in the world together with a flow a thousand times as great as the average flow of the Mississippi.

President Abraham Lincoln's call to arms in 1861 rescued Ulysses S. Grant from the life of obscurity and failure he had led until that time. He recruited and trained a company of volunteers from Galena, Ill. He became a colonel in the Illinois Volunteer regiment, in which position he soon showed himself a skillful leader.

Thoughts

And when he humbled himself, the wrath of the Lord turned from him, that he would not destroy him altogether; and also in Judah things went well.—II Cron. 12:12.

"He that humbleth himself shall be exalted." This great law of the kingdom of God is, in the teaching of Christ, inscribed over its entrance gate.—Thomas Browne.

THIS IS THE MORE poignant because Murrow led the pack hounding Senator Joe McCarthy with the false cry that McCarthy did not let the accused face the accusers. McCarthy did, in fact, present many accusers under oath and several of them proved that Murrow, himself, had been a fellow traveler himself on the old downtown socialist soapbox circuit and that he led "seminars" of American study-boys to Moscow and Yalta early in the New Deal.

At this writing, in the absence of any disposition by Murrow and CBS to come clean, the evidence indicates that Murrow was guilty at best of inexcusable reliance on unreliable material "put together" by nameless hacks, known in the radio business as "researchers." In journalism they would be called reporters, but the standards of radio are so far below those of the printed word that the comparison is remote.

Moreover, newspapers nowadays flaunt the names of many of their staff people, signing it sometimes seems, even want-ads in naive vanity over their literary quality. But CBS keeps its "researchers" in a hyena room and thus far has been willing to say only that these mysterious fellows "traveled around for months" and "got voices from various parts of the country."

MR. MURROW, who for no stated reason shucked the name of Egbert in college to become Edward in echoes down the corridors of fame, was absolutely "unavailable," but Miss Sheila Hogg, his assistant, answered one and the same question both "yes" and "no" to play things safe. Miss Hogg first said the persons so represented were actual prostitutes and procurers. She knew that to be the fact.

But when I asked if she intended to go to the grand jury with her evidence of the commission of certain crimes, her answer was "Oh, no! I had nothing to do with it at all. I did not know any of them."

My first call went to William Paley, the president of CBS. He was out of town possibly out of this world as befits an executive of his exalted station. So I went to the bottom of the class, to Dick Kellerman, of publicity. Mr. Kellerman referred me back up to the "command level" where Mr. Michael Horton said the participants in the show all were exactly as represented.

"This was 'actuality stuff,'" he said. "Our boys traveled around for months and got those voices." But he could not answer whether any single one was the voice of a New York member of the oldest profession or of a male accessory. And he could not name any city in which any of these persons operated, although the broadcast, it self, had mentioned New York, Chicago and Cleveland.

Murrow and CBS were licking their wounds as the returns came in from the clipping bureaus.

THE NEW YORK Journal-American, lavishly patient toward radio-TV and its peculiar characters, said Murrow had shown "a deplorable lack of responsibility in refusing to back up his charge that big business is using up to 30,000 call-girls in New York alone to build up trade."

In Brooklyn, Pat Scanlan, the editor of the Catholic Diocese's weekly, the Tablet, the most influential and righteous paper of its kind in the country, pulled up his socks, spat on his hands, and wrote:

"The program, publicizing immorality and making wholesale charges against thousands of people without any evidence, was the worst disservice ever engaged in by the broadcasting industry. It was particularly interesting that Murrow, self-styled opponent of 'informers,' of guilt by association, or exposure for the sake of exposure, scorne of testimony taken without confrontation, should have had a leading part in the blanket indictment of so many Americans without trial."

When the police sought Murrow, CBS said in effect, that he did not know what he was talking about but merely narrated, not investigated, facts."

Frustrating Taxation

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Lack of Incentive Has Hit Industry

What is the "mood" of American business today? Lately there has been considerable discussion as to what has to be done if America is to keep the lead in the race with the Communist system. Adlai Stevenson, in recent speeches, spoke of this country as pursuing a "fat, dumb, happy, complacent way" in the face of Soviet competition and describes the struggle as being waged "between a chaotic, selfish, indifferent commercial society and the iron discipline of the Communist world."

There are other criticisms, too. Many businessmen have in their minds today the "image" of a frustrated America. They see the incentives missing for the extra push that used to be so important in the competitive arena. Thus, for instance, a businessman from the West Coast, who has been rather successful himself and who travels around the country quite a lot, dropped in for a chat with this correspondent the other evening. When asked what he found to be the mood of businessmen generally, he said:

"I am sorry to say that I find a widespread discouragement — really a lack of incentive. Businesses try hard, in this day of competition, to increase their volume of sales, but they are faced to face with the necessity of giving more than half of their profits to the government and of using more and more of their income to meet wage demands."

"Now the feeling is growing that there isn't much chance of a tax reduction for corporations, and this, more than any other factor, is killing the very incentive and stimulus we need for a growing America."

"As for the executive, what incentive is there for him, since most of any increase in salary he may get goes to the tax collector, anyhow?"

YET EVERY DAY in the debate over the President's budget — between the "spenders" and the "savers" — many of the Democrats are taking the position that all that is needed for national growth is for the government to spend more.

Their argument is that the gross national product will increase just because population increases. Very little thought seems to be given to the fact that a "commercial society," as Mr. Stevenson describes it, can deteriorate very rapidly without incentives and under a heavy tax burden.

Today, 52 cents out of every dollar of profit a corporation makes must go to the federal government for taxes. On top of this are state and local taxes. Even if all the remainder were paid out in dividends — which can't be done, because funds have to be set aside for new plant and equipment and future contingencies — the individual stockholders still would have to pay to the federal government in taxes anywhere from 20 to 90 per cent of their receipts from this same corporation.

While the radicals like to talk in collective figures about business earnings before taxes, they usually overlook the plight of the marginal companies.

REALISTICALLY speaking, Republican Chairman Alcorn should not be worried about the "image of big business" as being something Republican. It fits the Democratic party even better. For, in the last 25 years, the Democrats have passed tax laws that favor big business and monopoly.

As for big unionism, it has consistently favored big business as against small business by setting the wage scales so high that the marginal companies cannot pay them and must seek mergers with the larger companies as the only way out of the dilemma.

The wave of mergers in recent years is largely due to the inability of marginal companies to make ends meet, because of high labor costs. The labor leaders like to quote the collective profits of a given industry as the basis for wage demands. They never separate an industry into big and marginal categories, respectively, so that one may see how most of the profits are made by the big three or four in an industry, while the 20 or 30 marginal companies make small profits or are forced into the red when recessions come.

America may be approaching a truly critical period in her economic history. Until the federal corporation taxes are reduced considerably, there is very little prospect that America will travel again the road of sound growth and economic progress.

Actually, if the corporation taxes were reduced from 52 per cent to 40 per cent, the federal government would collect far more total revenue than it does today, because the volume of business would be materially increased due to the incentive and stimulus given to all businesses.

Soul-Searching Meeting

By JAMES MARLOW

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Republican National Committee, still aching from the Democrats' shattering victory last November, met last week in Des Moines to figure out how to win in 1960. It was a soul-searching get-together.

Before it was over dissatisfaction with the leadership President Eisenhower has given the party came to the surface and drew loud applause. Eisenhower advised the committee to work hard and was told to do more himself. But the committee also warmly applauded a resolution approving the "wise and able leadership" of Eisenhower and Vice President Richard M. Nixon.

The members wound up confused on where the party stood, what it stood for, where it was going and why, and whether it should turn left, right, straight ahead down the middle, or backwaters.

The result: a plan for getting more people to ask more people to vote Republican was approved but the committee never got around to stating why it thought people should vote for the party. It authorized the naming of a committee to draw up long range goals.

Sen. Barry Goldwater of Arizona had his own idea. He is chairman of the Senate Republican Campaign Committee and a longtime critic of Eisenhower administration policies. He thought it all right to approve a plan for ringing doorbells.

But he said: "The most important ingredient is missing. Where does the party stand? What are its principles?" He said more than a million Republicans failed to vote last year because they didn't know what the party principles, if any, were.

He did suggest the party quit copying the New Deal.

But it was Rep. Richard M. Simpson's slap at Eisenhower that got the most applause and headlines.

Except around campaign time every two years Eisenhower has been one of the most nonpolitical of all presidents. Between elections he tries to get along with everyone, including Democrats.

Just before an election he gets extremely busy, campaigns, and denounces Democrats. He started late in the 1958 campaign, too. On Nov. 5, the day after the election, he had a news conference.

Asked what his role in the 1960 elections would be, he said: "My role for the next two years is to do exactly my very best to carry on the responsibilities and duties of the presidency. I am not even thinking about that election at this time."

This was in strange contrast with the advice he sent the committee last week:

"I deeply regret that some people look upon our party as a kind of hibernating elephant who wakes with a mighty trumpet blast at election time and then rests calmly until the next election time."

"Political activity must be a matter of unrelenting effort. It must go on 365 days a year. . . ."

This was too much for Simpson, a Pennsylvanian who is chairman of the congressional campaign committee and whose job is to try to get Republicans elected to the House.

He called upon the White House "to give us some of that unrelenting political planned effort on behalf of the Republican party (and) to state the long-range purpose of the Republican party, to give us a statement of principles for which we can stand. . . ."

Classroom Site Of World Battle

Soviets, Americans In War of Education

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — The classroom is the chief battlefield between the Soviet Union's communism and American democracy, said Oliver J. Caldwell, U.S. Office of Education said today.

"The prize is world power. If we lose this battle we may lose the future," Caldwell said in an address prepared for the National School Boards Assn. convention.

"Americans everywhere must give education a much higher priority," he added. "Increased investment in education is cheap insurance against possible eclipse by communism."

Caldwell said "an educational revolution is going on in the heartland of Europe and Asia."

More than 245 million men, women and children are studying in Communist schools and colleges in Communist China and the U.S.S.R., he reported. Relatively few are Communists, but all are dominated by communism, he said.

More than a quarter of the 850 million people living in the largely undeveloped 12 million square miles in Communist China and the Soviet Union are going to school and more go every year, Caldwell said.

"Through education, communism aims to create a new kind of man for a new kind of world," Caldwell said.

To meet communist competition in education, Caldwell declared, Americans must:

Concentrate on building quality, since they will be outnumbered.

Not waste children's intelligence the nation's greatest national asset.

Stimulate each American child to maximum achievement.

Byron S. Hollinshead, former Coe College, Iowa, president, said the United States possesses one great advantage in a traditional willingness to make changes in its school operations.

Nearly three fourths of the nation's high schools are too small to do the job needed in this day, Dr. James B. Conant said after a two-year survey.

Conant, former president of Harvard University and former U.S. ambassador to Western Germany, found U.S. high schools basically sound, without need of radical alteration. But, he said, in many states the No. 1 problem is the elimination of the small high school by school district reorganization.

Sheet and Tube Eyes Improvements in 1959

YOUNGSTOWN, Ohio (AP) — Improvement in operations of the Youngstown Sheet & Tube Co. for the first six months of 1959 is forecast by J. L. Mauthe, chairman of the board.

Reporting Tuesday on preliminary figures covering the firm's 1958 operations, Mauthe told shareholders:

"There seems to be little question that the steel inventory liquidation which was such a depressing factor on steel operations in 1958 has... given way to inventory accumulation."

The nation's sixth largest steel producer reported net income of $21,501,320, equal to $6.23 a share, for last year. This compared with $42,508,579 or $12.35 a share for 1957.

12-Year-Old Is Murdered In California

RIALTO, Calif. (AP) — The body of a 12-year-old boy, naked from the waist down, was found hanging from a tree Tuesday night two hours after his parents had reported him missing.

Police Chief Sidney Jones said Harold Hinnies was murdered, possibly by a sex offender.

Harold, only son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Hinnies, was found hanging from a limb in a clump of holly trees behind the family home. The rest of the youngster's clothing lay about 10 feet away. Jones said an autopsy would be performed.

"We have to assume that it was a hanging," he said. But he added that facial discoloration usually caused by hanging was not present.

Investigators said the boy's feet were touching the ground when the body was discovered. A length of clothesline was looped about the neck.

The father, a truck driver for an electric utility firm, said he had moved his family to the home only three days ago.

Heart Operations Lead Surgical Progress Parade

By DON DUNHAM
NEA Special Correspondent
(Second of Three Dispatches)

A skilled surgeon today can enter any organ of the human body with relative safety.

This is due to a combination of advances—the antibiotics which safeguard against killing infections, better X-rays, better anesthetics, use of blood and its substitutes, better surgical techniques and preoperative buildup of the patient.

The greatest advance in surgery in the past decade has been within the human heart.

It was not long ago that great surgeons said that the human heart never could be opened by the surgeon's knife.

Today the human heart is even stopped while the surgeon does his work in a completely still and bloodless field.

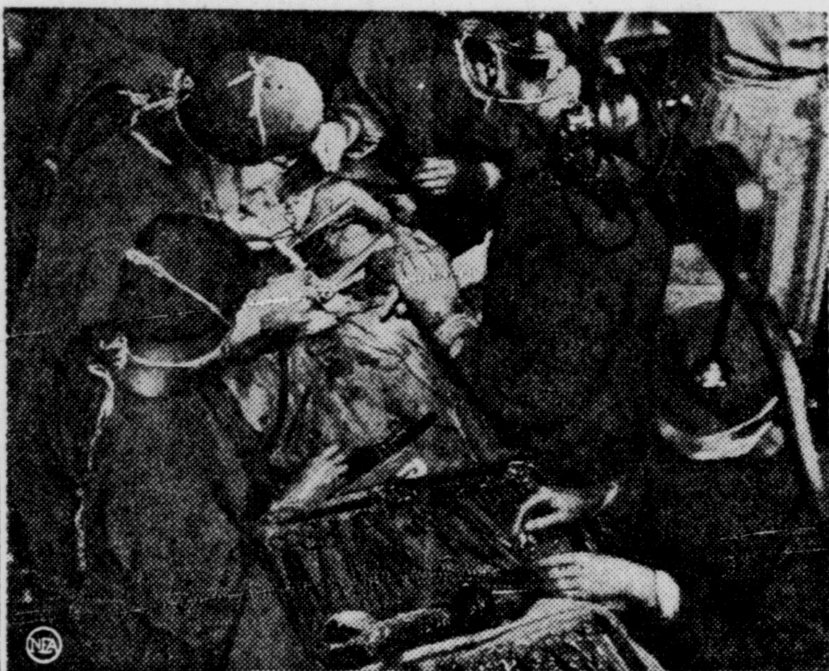

THE PERFECTION OF heart-lung machines means congenital or birth defects in children's hearts can be repaired. The surgeon can see better what he is trying to do, take more time in doing it. Many valve failures now can be repaired by opening narrowed valves or partly closing those that have become too open. Plastic valves have been placed in hearts of some patients.

Almost as fantastic as heart surgery itself is the progress in grafting blood vessels.

This, too, is routine now in most medical centers.

Not only is it possible to ream clogs out of clogged blood vessels surgically, but at least two institutions have made notable headway in using drugs. The best is a refined Streptokinase, an enzyme, to dissolve clots and help prevent formation of new ones.

A NEW YORK surgeon has pioneered in surgery to reduce much of the shaking of Parkinson's Disease. Now he has used it to quiet some victims of cerebral palsy. In this operation the ur-geon, by knife or electrically, damages a small lobe in the brain that controls motor action in the affected area.

In terminal cancer patients with unbearable pain, a series of glandular operations may give them as much as several years of fairly comfortable living.

The heart-lung machine has been used to isolate the circulation in a limb with severe cancer which defies drugs and surgery. By thus cutting it off from the circulation of the rest of the body, New Orleans surgeons have been able to give huge doses of drugs which normally would have killed the patient.

Cobalt bombs and tremendous multimillion volt machines to bombard deeply-hidden cancers have been improved.

RADIOACTIVE substances are the most valuable diagnostic tool for medicine since the invention of the microscope. Dyes also can be injected that show a target area as opaque to the X-ray and reveal diseased areas.

Certain radioactive substances have an affinity for certain organs, as iodine for the thyroid and potassium or phosphorus to the brain. These are given to the patient and then Geiger counters or very sensitive scanners are applied near the pickup area and reveal both the size and shape of a hidden tumor.

Where chloroform and ether were the only choice of an anesthesiologist a couple of decades ago, there are a dozen available today. They have been developed to do certain jobs. Local anesthetics that block pain only in the immediate area are invaluable in certain types of surgery.

World War II and the Korean War showed the great value of blood, blood plasma and blood expanders. In the age of open heart surgery and heart-lung machines, enormous amounts of blood must be available. It must be fresh blood for the machines.

FRACTIONS OF BLOOD, such as gamma globulin, are important in preventing or easing the attack of such diseases as measles.

Almost unknown to the public but perhaps the major advance of the past five years is our new understanding of the balance of body fluids and chemicals.

Some illnesses deplete the body of chemicals such as salt and potassium. Others squeeze the water out, carrying with it precious life-giving chemicals.

In the better hospitals, careful tests are made before major surgery, especially in the aged or malnourished. Phenomenal results can be attained rather quickly by special feeding to offset these losses.

Dr. Joseph E. Murray of Harvard and Peter Bent Brigham Hospital in Boston has successfully transplanted a kidney in identical twins on several occasions. Grafts from other than identical twins fail.

Medical and surgical leaders are confident a break-through will permit transplanting of most major organs in the not too distant future.

Curbstone Comments

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP)—Curbstone comments of a Pavement Plato: How can life be made better for all in this woman's world we now dwell in?

Well, here's an idea for a starter: Why not encourage the ladies to take up cigar smoking?

In an era in which more and more value is placed on togetherness, the cigar remains one of the few symbols of apartness.

Women today talk like men, work like men, dress like men and drink like men. But very few—in this country anyway—have learned to smoke like men.

So far, in their invasion of former masculine prerogatives, the cigar has defeated them. Stick a cigar in the average woman's kisser, and she doesn't know what to do with it. She looks a bit like an anteater trying to blow up a football.

But it is doubtful if fair womanhood will ever make a real success of the equal rights movement until the ladies master the art of striking a kitchen match on the bottom of their slacks and lighting up a cigar in confident ease.

Why don't more women take up cigar smoking? Well, not for the reasons they give. They say cigars are dirty and nasty, and smell up the draperies. They say cigars taste bad—a slander if ever there was one. There are few aromas in nature more delicate and pleasurable than a puff of smoke from a fine clear Havana.

Many women with a connoisseur's palate for the finer joys of life have discovered this. They range from "Poker Alice," the lady gambler of the Western frontier, to poetess Amy Lowell, who was the very spirit of New England. The Italian actress, Anna Magnani, is among the noted feminine cigar smokers of today.

But you will note one pertinent thing about these three ladies — they are all talented, strong-minded decisive women. Herein may lie the real key to the mystery of why so many women avoid cigars, or openly attack them.

At the risk of alienating the unenlightened addicts of other forms of nicotine, I'd like to point out the basic superiority of the cigar smoker over both the cigarette and the pipe smoker.

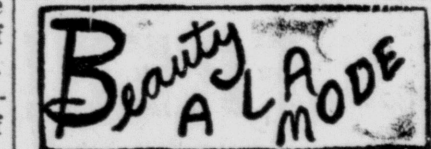

Your typical cigarette smoker is often nervous and indecisive. Your typical pipe man is a life-beaten philosopher sending up smoke signals of futility.

But your typical cigar smoker is an expansive, aggressive, forceful optimist—a man of action, forthright and decisive. I give you, for examples, U. S. Grant, Gen. George S. Patton and Winston Churchill.

The man who smokes cigars is a man who can make up his mind. This, I submit, is why so few women today smoke cigars. They aren't the kind of people who really like to make up their mind.

And mark my word now—the day American women stop kidding around and really shoulder the responsibility of running the country will be the day after they all bite the end off a stogie, clamp it in their jaws and order the nearest male, "Light me, little man!"

As for how frequently to shampoo . . . as often as necessary. Dermatologists say you can't harm hair by keeping it clean and healthy any more than you can harm your body with a daily shower. Select the shampoo that will best service your type of hair. Finger-tip cushions should be used to massage the scalp as the lather is worked up. A thorough rinsing is so important as shampoo residue can harm the hair.

Be safe and have a professional shampoo . . . In this way you can be certain that the right shampoo will be used and the rinsing thorough.

Move Toward Conference
The latest Kremlin move toward a new East-West conference came Monday when Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev told a group in Moscow that he thought "there is a possibility of a thaw in our relations."

Khrushchev told the 21st Communist party congress in Moscow Tuesday that "There are no grounds for clashes between the American and Soviet people."

But he also reiterated earlier Soviet insistence — rejected by the West — that West Berlin be made a free city and that East and West Germany negotiate between themselves their reunification.

Dulles said Soviet propositions for a German confederation — which would leave East and West Germany as independent political units — are designed not to reunite Germany but "to perpetuate the partition."

At the same time he said the United States would listen to any new Soviet proposition aimed at true unification even though it departed from the free elections formula.

A discussion was held on the extension of membership and it was decided that a teacher from Salem and East Liverpool schools will be added to the group. A dentist also may be added.

2. Require all unions to file with the Labor Department, as public information, copies of their constitutions and bylaws and certain other information.
3. All unions would be required to keep proper records on the matters on which they must report.

4. Unions and their officers would have to keep proper records on any payments or investments which create conflicts of interests or which interfere with the statutory rights of union members.

5. Union officers would be accountable for administration of union funds and property. This duty would be enforceable in courts in accounting suits.

6. Minimum standards for the conduct of elections of union officers, or their recall, would also be required. Union funds could not be used to promote candidates for union offices.

Under Trusteeship
7. Regulate union action in putting local unions under trusteeship.
8. Give the secretary of labor power to police the union fund accounting and require democratic procedure in union operation.

9. Provide criminal penalties for misuse of union funds, concealing or destroying records, and for improper payments between employers and union leaders.

10. Preserve for union members any present remedies, under state or federal laws, in addition to those recommended in the new administration program.

11. Tighten present secondary boycott bans of the Taft-Hartley law so as to prohibit coercion of employers as well as employees.

12. Prohibit picketing to compel an employer to give a union bargaining rights in cases where employees have indicated they don't want a union.

13. Authorize the National Labor Relations Board to refuse to take cases where the impact on commerce is relatively insubstantial, and transfer jurisdiction over such cases to state courts or agencies.

14. Eliminate a present ban against strikers voting in an election to determine whether a union shall continue to represent a struck employer's workers. Eligibility of strikers to vote would be left to the discretion of the NLRB.

Grant Bargaining Rights
15. Permit the NLRB to grant construction trade unions bargaining rights before employees are hired, and without an election.

16. Authorize the NLRB to hold bargaining rights elections without prior hearing where there is no substantial objection.

17. Make employers, as well as union officials, file non-Communist affidavits.

18. Prohibit any requirement to negotiate a change in a collective bargaining agreement during the life of a contract, unless by mutual consent.

19. Authorize the president to appoint an acting general counsel of the NLRB whenever a vacancy in that office occurs.

20. Require that the five-man NLRB be politically bipartisan with no more than three members from the same political party.

There is no such present requirement, and the board at present has three Republicans and two Democrats.

An outline of Eisenhower's proposals became known after a White House briefing of Republican congressional leaders.

They are understood to parallel in some respects and go further in others than provisions in a bill already introduced by Sen. John F. Kennedy (D-Mass.).

Both bills would require detailed reports to the government on union fund spending, with penalties for fraud and provisions to insure members' a voice in running their unions.

Bill Goes Further
But the administration bill goes further both in details of its corruption curbs and in the Taft Hartley law changes it would make.

In the latter respect, Eisenhower favors tighter restrictions on secondary boycotts by unions, something the Kennedy bill does not mention. Eisenhower also wants to extend picketing bans.

From all indications a bill yet to be introduced by Sen. John McClellan (D - Ark. whose racketeering committee publicized union wrongdoings, will propose even stronger curbs and penalties than either the administration or Kennedy.

There are two mild surprises in Eisenhower's Taft - Hartley law proposals. One would speed up representation elections by the National Labor Relations Board by letting the board hold elections first and argue out technicalities later.

The other would require that no more than three members of the five-man NLRB could come from one political party. As it happens the present board has three Republicans and two Democrats.

Sen. Kennedy called the Labor subcommittee he heads into session today to begin hearings on the various proposals. Eisenhower's recommendations, as set forth in a bill to be introduced during the day by Sen. Barry Goldwater (R-Ariz.) were to be included.

The President's proposals, large ly paralleling those he made last year, were reported to represent a victory within the administration for the views advanced by Secretary of Labor James P. Mitchell.

The Carney bill would set up an Ohio Civil Rights Commission of five and an executive director to enforce rules and regulations to prevent discrimination based on race, color, religion, national origin or ancestry. Employers of four or more persons would be affected.

Another 33 bill were introduced during the day, including measures to:

Red Cross Seeking Funds For Flood Work

Red Cross officials today issued an urgent appeal for contributions for aid to flood disaster victims.

Recent floods have created great distress and suffering for more than 2,600 families in 21 Ohio Counties.

Several thousand persons are being cared for in 37 shelters in the state which have been established by the Red Cross. Preliminary reports indicate that the greatest number of families affected are in Knox, Stark, Montgomery, Lake and Muskingum Counties.

Available disaster funds are becoming dangerously low, it was explained and all residents of northern Columbiana County are urged to mail or leave their contributions at local Red Cross Chapter headquarters in Salem and Columbiana. Funds received will be forwarded to the American National Red Cross for distribution. The need for these funds is in addition to the funds to be raised in the regular March campaign, the leaders said.

He added that preliminary reports indicate the abnormally heavy turnout for an off-year election was the result of an increase in Democratic voters while the Republican balloting remained "about normal." The purpose of the study, he said, would be to find out why the GOP turnout did not increase to match the Democrats.

He said other aspects of the rebuilding project will generally follow the plans suggested by National Chairman Meade Alcorn, with some tailoring to state and local situations.

He said a campaign will be launched to improve Republican registrations; to encourage the work of women party members which he praised highly; to build a staff of well-trained, paid field organizers to advise and assist the county chairmen, and to develop the "young vote" through the Young Republican organization.

Bliss listed the state party's top 1960 objectives as recapture of control of the legislature, recapture of three congressional seats lost last November and re-election of James A. Rhodes, whose term as auditor expires in two years.

Salem Shells Youngstown South 84-39 For 12th Win

Deitch, Hunter, Krichbaum Top Scorers As Locals Win 9th In Row; South Hits 15%

By GORDON ARNDT

Combining their best defensive game of the season along with a 47 per cent in shooting from the field the sixth-ranked Salem Quakers rolled to their ninth straight win of the season last night on the home floor by completely outclassing the Youngstown South Warriors 84-39.

The win gave the locals a 12-1 mark while South dropped to 7-6 after five in a row of their own.

The decisive score was the result of Salem's devastating fast break along with a terrible night in shooting by the losers. South made but 11 of 71 shots for a measly 15 per cent. Salem canned 31 of 66 shots while making 22 of 49 fouls. South hit on 17 of 28 charity attempts.

South's offensive was nil in the final quarter. They failed to register a field goal in 21 attempts and scored but three points on a trio of free tosses.

Although he sat out 12 minutes of the game Woody Deitch was the high man for Salem with 21 points. It was his first game in seven days having missed the Wellsville game Friday with a swollen left hand.

Consistent Dave Hunter had 18 for Salem while Dan Krichbaum collected 17.

Wilson and Wright had 10 each for the losers.

The game was marked with both teams running up and down the floor like they were going to a fire. The big difference was that the ball handling of Hunter, Deitch, Krichbaum and Lehwald was too much for the less-experienced Warriors.

Deitch and Krichbaum were especially rough on the Warriors in the third quarter. During that span Salem outpointed South 18-10 but it was the dribbling and passing of Deitch along with the scoring of Krichbaum that put South so far out of contention they couldn't think straight.

Deitch had three assists in the frame while Krichbaum tallied 10 times.

With Clyde Marks and Rick Theiss rebounding the Quakers were down the floor towards two points following a pass to Deitch who would be flanked by either Hunter, Lehwald or Krichbaum.

In the final quarter the game developed into an overwhelming rout as Salem outscored South 19-3 in the frame.

Lehwald started for Deitch but the latter came in with 2:37 left in the first frame. By the half he had scored 12 points.

Lou Slaby was plagued with fouls in the game. He obtained his fourth personal with 5:50 left in the first half and didn't return till the start of the last period. He played but three minutes and 12 seconds in the last quarter being replaced then by Ed Yates who ended the game.

His absence in the first half was filled by Lehwald but in the second half it was Theiss who replaced him on the board. Theiss played the whole second half.

Salem mentor John Caba started substituting early in the last quarter. Salem led 74-36 by 6:32 left when Jim Solmen came in for Deitch. At the 5:28 mark Tim Burchfield replaced Lehwald and with 4:28 left Carl Dunn took over for Hunter.

Eleven men played for the Quakers and 10 of them scored.

South played a zone defense against Salem the entire game but it proved no problem as Krichbaum and Hunter slipped underneath for easy buckets.

Marks scored six point last night and all were in the first frame. He opened the tilt with a push shot with 7:08 on the clock. Salem led 6-0 before South retaliated with 6:08 showing on a foul by Wilson.

South showed no offensive patterns. They raced down the floor with the shooter usually the man that dribbled the oval past mid court.

Salem lost the ball a lot on simple changeovers and South combined it with some close in scoring by Wright to come within 13 to with 3:07 left.

With 2:37 left Deitch came in for Lehwald and promptly canned a foul to make it 14-10.

BY THE END of the quarter Salem was in front 21-13 following four points by Marks on a driving layup and a push shot and two by Slaby on a jumper.

South outrebounded Salem in the first period but lacked any offensive power because they utilized no system.

Salem once again broke the game open for good in the second quarter by scoring the first 10 points. South tallied with 4:59 left to make it 31-14 but it wasn't enough.

Deitch scored 11 times for Salem in the second quarter and coupled with all-around team work in passing by Hunter, Krichbaum and Lehwald the Quakers shot into a commanding 47-26 half time lead.

Salem wasn't impressive in the first half but they still had too much for South who lacked any semblance of a smooth-working offensive machine.

South's 15 per cent in shooting can also be attributed to the fact that they didn't get too many good shots off the locals' tight defense.

South continued to fire wildly in the third stanza. Coupled with Deitch on the fast break, Krichbaum in scoring and rebounding by Theiss and Marks, the Red and Black left South in the wake of a brutal fast breaking attack and iced early their 12th win in 13 starts.

SALEM'S JVs took over in the last quarter and outpointed South's younger set of athletes by a 16-point margin. Two men fouled out for the losers and visiting mentor Merle Roselle threw many a man into the game to find a working unit. His attempts were futile even though he attempted to do so as early as the second frame.

Salem's reserves weren't impressive in the last quarter. They threw away a lot of passes and were guilty of bad handling all the way around.

Theiss, Solmen and Yates controlled the boards while Dunn and Burchfield did the fast breaking. The Quakers missed many shots but still wore out the rapidly tiring Warriors.

This Friday the locals will travel to East Liverpool. After that they'll finish the season at home against Boardman, Akron St. Vincent, Akron East and Girard.

Last night Liverpool lost its 12th in 13 games losing 68-39 to Youngstown East, a 7948 victim of Salem.

Archie Moore Eying Heavyweight Crown

JAMESTOWN, N.Y. (AP) — Archie Moore is at an age when there could be no more tomorrow for him in the ring. Yet the old warrior is busily plotting a campaign to get one final fling at the heavyweight crown.

It may not come until 1960 or even 1961, which gives you an idea how long Archie intends to stick at his trade.

The light heavyweight champion has one sure fight on tap for 1959. That's the return bout with Canada's Yvon Durelle, the rugged fisherman who was knocked out in the 11th round of a memorable brawl in Montreal last Dec. 10.

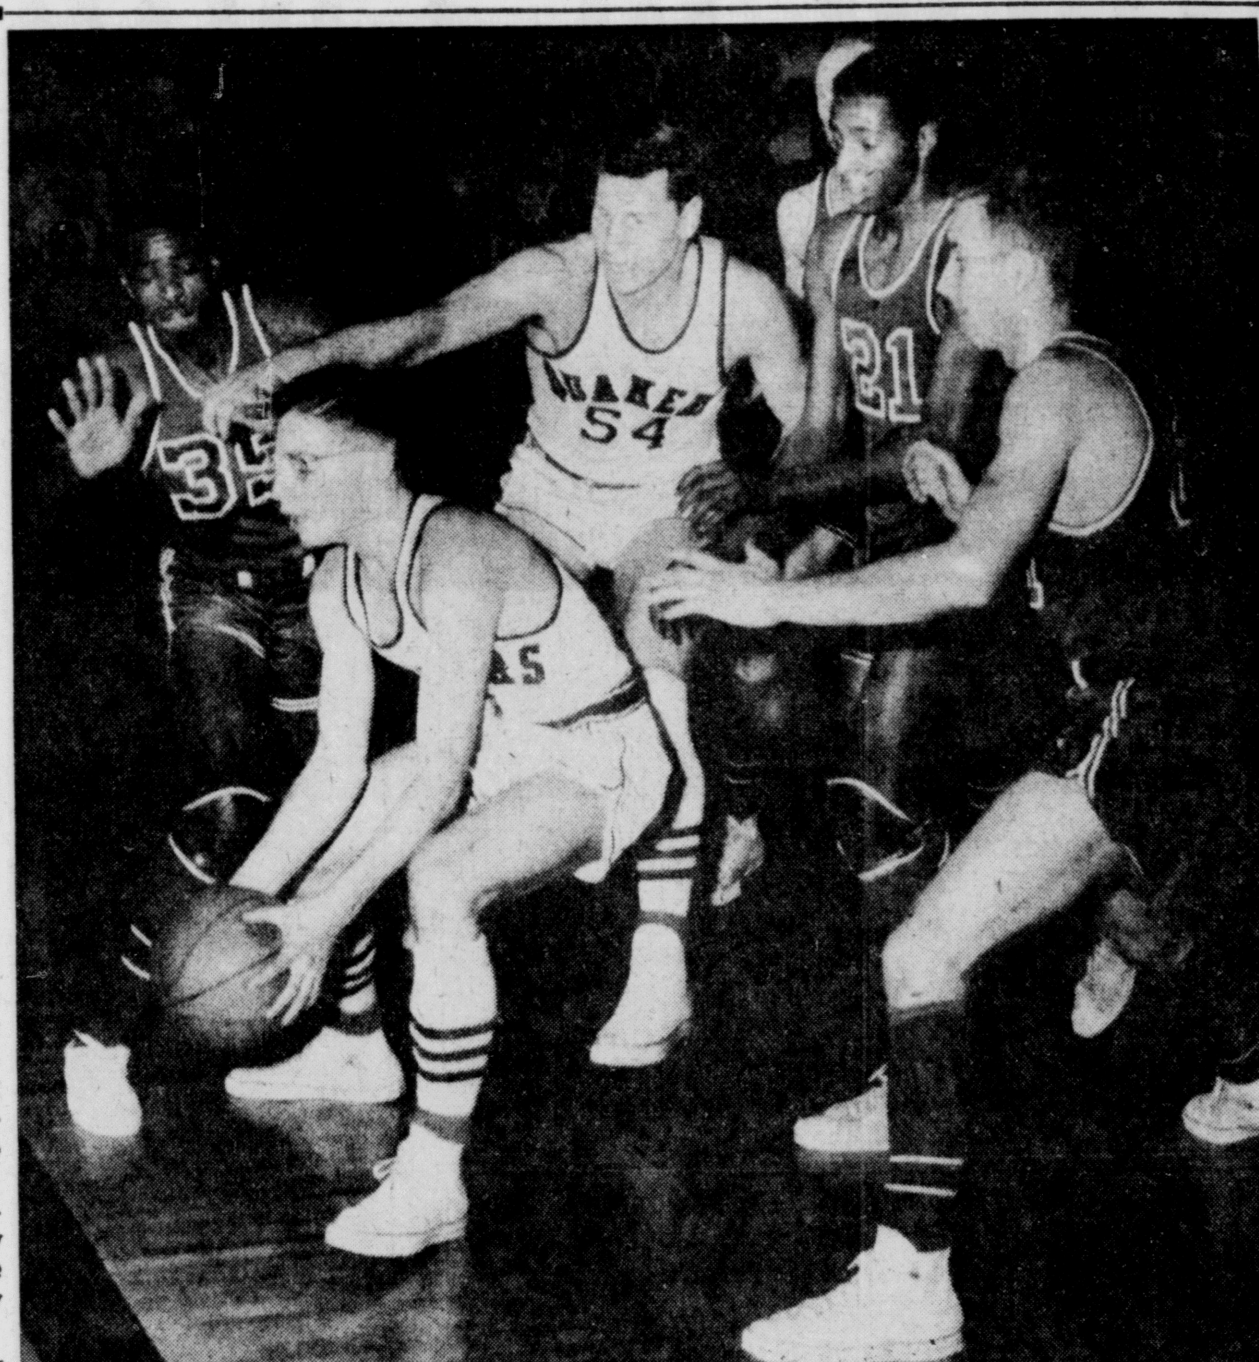

"That's my bird in the hand," said Moore, here for a sports banquet. "But before I fight him I would like to fight Britisher Henry Cooper. He's been offered $150,000 to fight me. I'll take a lot less—maybe 50,000. But I'll beat him and then I'll be in position to fight the winner of the Floyd-Patterson-Johannson heavyweight championship fight."

How about middleweight champion Sugar Ray Robinson who has expressed a desire to meet him for the 175-pound crown?

"Ray should know it takes two to dance," replied Moore. "He's not going to get the whole plot fighting me. After all, it would be my title at stake. Then, too, if I fight Ray the purse would be so big I couldn't fight more than once this year."

John Callison Cinch to Start For Chicago White Sox in '59

By The Associated Press
NEW YORK — The 1959 baseball season is three months off but already experts are saying the youngster to beat for American League rookie of the year honors is John Callison of the Chicago White Sox.

The 19-year-old Bakersfield, Calif., product looked so good after he was brought up for the closing weeks of the 1958 campaign that no less an authority than Casey Stengel remarked he was a cinch to start in left field for the White Sox next season.

The young lefthanded slugger needs a list of 15 newcomers who will appear in the White Sox spring camp at Tampa, next month. After hitting .283 for Indianapolis, leading the American Assn. with 29 home runs, Callison hit a solid .297 while driving in 12 runs in 18 games for Chicago.

Another newcomer tabbed as "most likely to succeed," is Barry Latman, a 22-year-old right-handed pitcher, who has a mediocre record at Indianapolis. Latman as a tremendous pitcher in the closing portion of the season with the White Sox with a 3-0 record.

Three newcomers will engage in a dog-fight to survive as one of the extra outfielders. One is Jim McAnany, whose .400 batting average at Colorado Springs of the Western League was the highest in the minor leagues.

Signed out of the University of Southern California as a freshman McAnany throws and runs well and is a capable outfielder. In 119 games he walloped 29 doubles, 26 home runs and drove in 117 runs.

Pike, Thorne Lead Blue Devils Over Leetonia by 61-38

Bears Bog Down In Second Period

Losers Can't Cope With Lisbon's Speed

By HARRY SAVAGE

Len Batcha brought his Leetonia ball club to Lisbon Tuesday evening with hopes of beating a Blue Devil quintet coached by Batcha's former high school mentor, Jack Mills. When the battle was over, however, the injury-riddled Bears were on the short end of a 61-38 score.

It was the eighth loss for Leetonia against three wins. Lisbon's record stands at four victories and six defeats.

Bob Pike and Chal Thorne were the big guns in the Lisbon attack. Pike tallied 17 points and Thorne was close behind with 16. Lee Radler led the Bears' scorers with 14 and Chuck Lippiatt chipped in with 13.

Two of the Leetonia regulars saw the game from the stands. Terry Tilley and Larry Holloway are still sidelined by injuries. Jim Stelts saw only limited action for the Bears, due to an arm injury.

Mills' squad took advantage of a collapsed Leetonia defense to stretch an 11-7 first quarter lead to a decisive 30-14 halftime margin. For the Bears it was just a case of too much Lisbon height, too many good Lisbon shooters and too many Leetonia mistakes.

THE GAME STARTED slowly with a Jim Tanner free throw marking the only score in the first two minutes. Lippiatt hit a long jump shot and the Bears had what proved to be their only lead of the ball game, 2-1. Thorne hit a drive shot and a push shot and Pike tallied on the fast break to push the Devils into a 7-2 lead.

With 4:43 remaining in the initial period, Leetonia called for a time out. After the breather the Bears narrowed the margin to 7-5, but the Devils came back to widen the gap to 11-7 as the quarter ended.

In the second quarter Mills threw his boys into a fullcourt press. The Bears seemed confused by the tight defense and Lisbon took advantage and raced to a quick 23-9 lead before the Leetonia squad, led by Lippiatt, settled down.

Coach Batcha started to substitute freely in an effort to find a successful combination, but the Devils kept hitting and by halftime had pulled away to a 30-14 lead.

AFTER THE INTERMISSION, the Bears started to move. Lippiatt hit a jump shot and, after Pike canned a push shot for the Devils, Lippiatt tallied on a charity toss to make it 32-17. Radler then hit two straight jumpers and the 6-0 junior forward stole the ball, was fouled and sank a brace of free throws to bring the count to 32-23. Leetonia was "hot" and it appeared as if the Bears were about to start chopping away at the Lisbon lead.

But the Blue Devils were not to be denied. Ronnie Lee hit a one-hander from the corner and the Bear's Lippiatt countered with a driving hook. Pike scored on a one hander and Radler followed with another of his patented jumpers to make the score 36-27. The Bears were hitting everything they were throwing up, but Lisbon manage to strike back quickly after every Leetonia bucket.

Pike scored on a rebound and, after Leetonia's Steltz pushed through a pair of free throws, Tanner dumped a one-hander as the third quarter gun sounded with the score Lisbon 40, Leetonia 29.

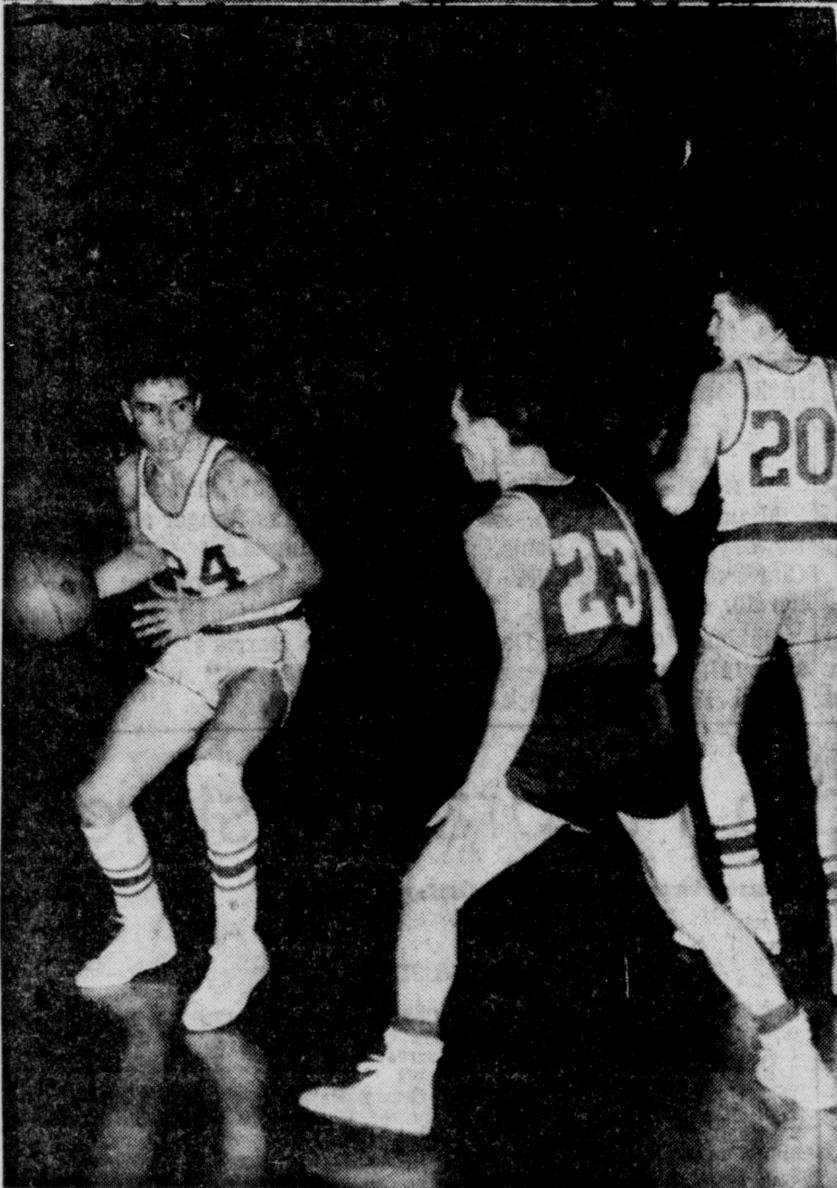

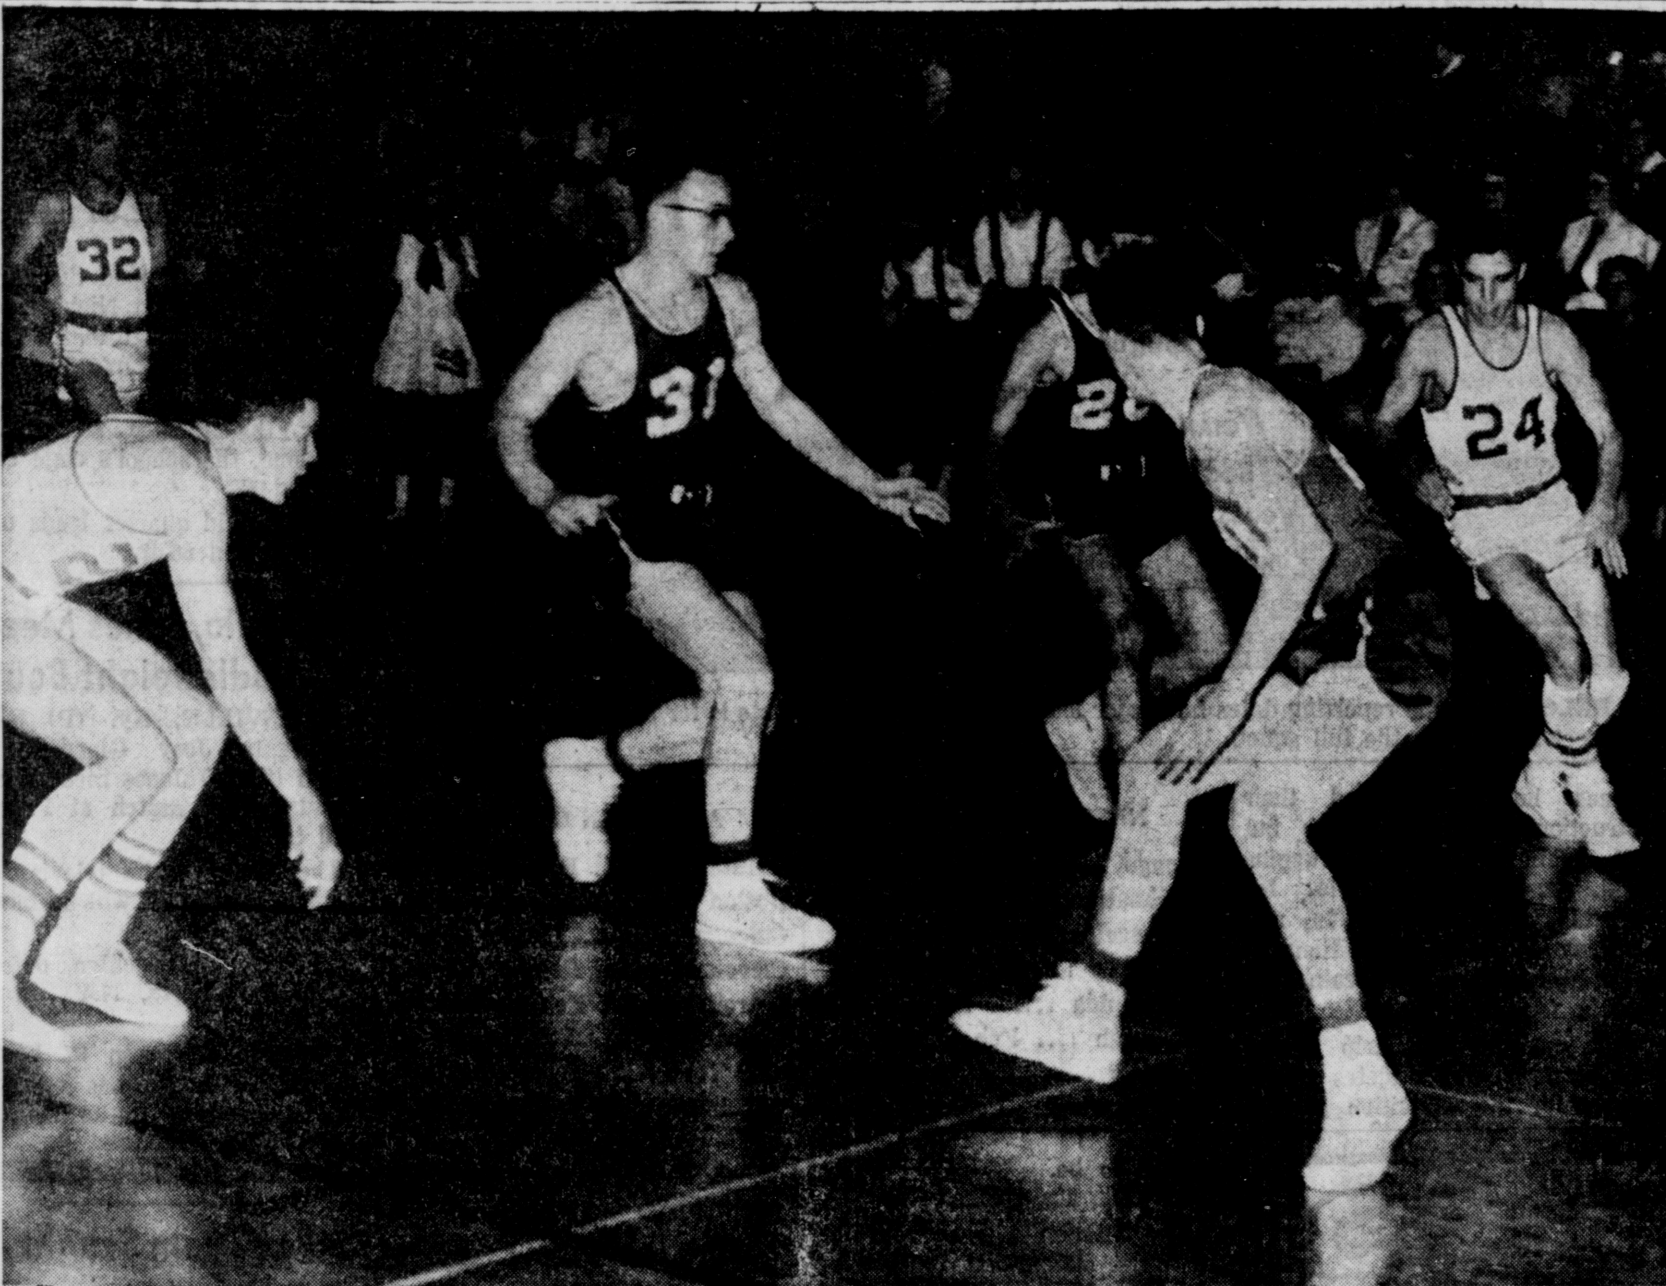

The final period was an anticlimax. The Bears had used their bag of tricks in the third period and Lisbon was still fresh. Bob Scullion hit a driving layup at the start of the final eight minutes to bring the Bears within a 40-31 margin and that was the closest Leetonia got.

THORNE, PIKE, LEE AND CO. applied the final touches to insure the victory for the Blue Devils. Pike was unstoppable on his one-handers. Thorne played perhaps his best game of the season, driving down the lane and hitting the short push shots and Lee proved to be a spring-legged floor general who came off the bench early in the game and led the Devils with his aggressive play.

Leetonia hit only two field goals in the final stanza and, when the final gun sounded it was Lisbon 61, Leetonia 38.

In the junior varsity contest, the Little Devils spanked the Teddy Bears by 41-39. Tom Brooks canned 11 and Roger McCaughn 10 to pace the Lisbon scoring. Jim Franko hit 16 and Bob Gullett 12 to take honors for the Leetonia reserves.

Lisbon — 61
Reese 1, 0, 2; Pike 7, 3, 17; Thorne 8, 0, 16; Faust 2, 4, 8; Lee 5, 1, 11; Tanner 2, 3, 7; Rudibaugh 0, 0, 0.
Leetonia — 38
Radler 6, 2, 14; Scullion 1, 0, 2; Loeffler 0, 4, 4; Lippiatt 4, 5, 13; Steltz 0, 3, 3; Franko 0, 0, 0; Gibson 1, 0, 2; Lisbon 11 30 40 61
Leetonia 7 14 29 38

THORNE IN BEARS' SIDE — Lisbon's Chal Thorne was all over the court last night in the Blue Devils' 61-38 win over Leetonia. The husky forward tallied 16 points. In the top picture Thorne (24) is about to catch a bounce pass from teammate Bob Pike (bending over) for a second quarter basket. Ron Lee (32) of the Devils is in the background. Leetonia players are Gene Loeffler (31), Lee Radler (28) and John Gibson (head turned in foreground). In the bottom photo, Thorne starts to drive around Chuck Lippiatt (23) of the Bears. Pike (20) is shown at the right.

Sports Sketches

By GORDON ARNDT

Last Monday marked the first time this season I had seen Salem's freshmen basketball team in action along with the eighth graders. Both squads chalked up wins that afternoon over respective Ravenna teams.

I was most impressed with three men on the freshmen team. They were Allen Ewing, Gary Jeffries and Bob Eskay. They formed the first line of defense and threw a full court press at the younger Ravens. Time and time again one of the three men would steal the ball. If they didn't score themselves a pass to one of the other two usually resulted in a score.

Jeffries possessed a fine left-handed hot from outside while Ewing showed the potential of developing a set shot ala Moe Meissner. Eskay "drove" more than the other two. The three of them reminded me of Woody Deitch, Dave Hunter, Dan Krichbaum and Jim Lehwald.

The frosh's board strength rested with 6-2 Ted Thorne, who was hitting from outside, along with John Panzetti. The latter was more rugged on the boards and in two or three years could develop into another Lou Slaby.

THE EIGHTH graders had an easy time of it because of the ball-hawking and hustle of Dick Ehrhart and Rick Platt. Ehrhart stole the ball at least four times for easy layups while Platt was most adept at setting up plays. He hit not only on layups but on outside one-handers.

I got a chuckle out of Platt because he was a spitting-image of his older brother, Butch, now a freshman at Youngstown U.

Two seventh graders played with the eighth grade team. They were Bink Washington and Dan Franks. Washington and Franks took over for Ehrhart and Platt. Bink and Dan were no slouches either at moving the ball. They worked well together, one stealing and feeding and the other scoring.

The way I see it the Quakers will be powerful again next year with Krichbaum, Hunter, Lehwald, Solmen, Theiss and Yates back.

With fellows coming up in the ones mentioned above local basketball fortunes in the future shouldn't be bad at all.

WHAT WAS even more gratifying in watching these teams play was that they utilized offensive and defensive patterns used now by the Salem varsity.

I think if any high school team is to be successful through the years they must start early in teaching their "young" talent the systems to be used when they become of varsity age.

From what I saw Monday I think freshmen coach Sam Pridon and eighth grade mentor Tom Cope are more than doing their share in preparing grade school athletes with the systems used on the senior high level.

I would go so far as to suggest that varsity patterns should even be taught, not only to Mickey McGuire league players but even to cagers in the Saturday church loops.

A young athlete is first eligible for church league competition when he is 10 years old.

If he could be taught varsity patterns for five or six years Salem's success in the future would greatly be enhanced and to a greater degree than should he not be taught at all.

The coach at Farrell, Pa. is Eddie McCluskey. One of the reasons his teams are perennially strong is that he has classes on Saturday morning where he instructs boys of 10 and 11 years of age the systems he uses with his varsity.

I can safely say this because he was at Midland, Pa. before he went to Farrell and yours truly happened to be one of those Saturday morning athletes.

DRAWINGS FOR THE Youngstown Class AA sectional tourney will be held Feb. 9. Drawings for the Struthers sectional will take place Feb. 4. The Youngstown sectional will be held Feb. 20-21-26-27-28.

The Youngstown district meet will be held on March 5-6-7 while the Kent regional will take place March 12-13-14. The state finals in Columbus are on March 20 and 21.

The two Akron clubs (St. Vincent and East) Salem will meet Feb. 6 and Feb. 10, respectively. don't have impressive records. Before last night St. Vincents was 2-10 and East 3-9.

There will be no bowling Saturday night in the Saxons Mixed-Up League. It has been postponed.

Rich Mayo Lost for Falcon Spring Drills

COLORADO SPRINGS Colo., (AP) — Rich Mayo, quarterback and passing star of the Air Force's Cotton Bowl football team, will be lost to the team for spring drills.

A bone in his right wrist has failed to respond to treatment following a wrist fracture last spring.

Rich used his right arm to sling the Falcons to an unbeaten season and into the Cotton Bowl Jan. 1, when they tied Texas Christian 0-0. He kept the wrist cushioned with a sponge during the games.

Early Baseball Season Opening Means Spring Training Moves Up

By FRANK ECK
AP Newsfeatures Sports Editor

Spring training for major league baseball players will be a bit different this time.

All of the healthy ones, except those doing a six-months bit in the National Defense Service and the stubborn holdouts, are expected to be in uniform and working out by Feb. 23. Three teams will have full squads on hand by Feb. 23.

FOR THE PAST few years the latest reporting date was March 1, but that's changed now because the American and National League seasons open one week sooner.

President Eisenhower probably will throw out the first American League baseball with new league president Joe Cronin's signature on it in Washington where Baltimore takes part in the April 9 inaugural.

In the National League Cincinnati plays host to Pittsburgh on the same day. On April 10 all teams in both leagues are scheduled to play except Washington and Baltimore. They have the 10th open in case of a rainout on the 9th.

With the season starting earlier than usual, the Florida and Arizona exhibition seasons are moved up. That means earlier reporting dates for the athletes. All teams open their exhibition activity on Saturday, March 7.

Several clubs are holding instruction camps for farm team players and untested rookies who could be added to major league rosters before opening day. But the first National League regulars will report are the San Francisco battersmen.

help their cause.

First in February but last in September appears to be Washington's lot. The Senators have Feb. 18 down for their battery men at Orlando, Fla. which is the earliest American League training date. The Chicago White Sox will be the first team in the league to have a full squad assembled. Feb. 23 orders to report to Tampa have been sent out by the Pale Hose.

There are only two major changes in the training camp set-up of the four previous springs. The Boston Red Sox and the Baltimore Orioles have traded states, so to speak.

Boston is moving from Sarasota, Fla., to Scottsdale, Ariz., former base of the Orioles, Baltimore will make new headquarters success in their first season in Los Angeles Dodgers as the home team for exhibition games in Miami Stadium.

BELOW ARE the reporting dates for major league players. The first date is for pitchers and catchers; the second date for the full squad.

Yankees have eliminated their instruction school this year but will again use Miller Huggins Field, St. Petersburg, Fla., for workouts beginning Feb. 19, and Al Lang Field for exhibitions. Twelve teams will train in Florida, four in Arizona.

Pick out the best grip in the attic, mother, the athletes travel by bus for the exhibition games.

OUT OF DOORS with Field & Stream

By RUFUS L. LIDE

Puddles, ponds and lakes not created by man dotted the whole country - side during the recent floods. If a like condition happens during the latter part of March or in April the toll on wildlife will be tremendous. No one will ever know what the toll of wildlife has been among the burrowing animals that hibernated during the winter months.

I had a telephone call from a man giving his name as Edward Green of Newell, West Va. Harold informed me that he took the puppies and the mother dog that I wrote about in my column last week.

Harold said two fellows, in a truck on the premises where the dogs were, asked him to take the mother dog along with the pups which he did. He said he did not notice a collie dog and certainly did not take it.

In the future, anyone having unwanted dogs will have to deal with the dog warden's office. There are rules and regulations provided according to law which I won't get involved in. In this case, the pups and the mother has a good happens to be.

Dogs that are picked up by the dog warden will be held for four days. After that time, they may be sold to some individual after an impoundment fee of $2 has been paid along with a valid $2 license plus .50 cents per day for board.

All dogs should now have a valid 1959 license tag attached to their collars. If he is not wearing a valid tag then he comes under the same classification as a stray or being harbored without a license.

The penalty for harboring a dog without a license goes up to $100. Stealing a licensed dog also carries a penalty up to $100.

According to Russ, anyone having a stray dog that comes to their home should notify the warden as soon as possible.

A person should never stone or beat a dog off their premises that has not done them any harm. Chaining the dog away means that some other person will be pestered with the stray.

I AM also advised that the vicinity of Calcutta has long been a trouble spot where unwanted dogs are dumped. This also carries a penalty of $100 if the guilty person is known.

Not only is this an inhumane act but the poor dog cannot be blamed if he kills a chicken or lamb when hunger forces it to do so. It is just too bad people who dump dogs along the roadside, or cats for that matter, are not known so justice can be done to make them think more.

Miami's sunny real estate has not seen its last tycoon. A fellow by the name of Jim Hoffa has just put four million dollars into the refurbishing of The Everblades, a residential hotel on the main land. It is some distance from the Gold Coast's motel row where the Teamsters already have put 1/4 million into a sandlot drive-in palace called The Castaways. All this is atop some four millions in a West Coast housing project and some 12 millions in deposits in Midwest banks.

So when Sen. John Kennedy says he has a law to put Hoffa out of business — it's a pretty big business, for there are other millions I've not listed here and tens of millions more in welfare funds still available. Some experts put these funds at a billion dollars for Hoffa's dollar diplomacy.

But Sen. Kennedy's proposals are big enough to contain even Hoffa.

This anti-racketeering bill will get more kicking around than an English soccer ball. But if it survives as the "minimum" law we, the people, get this year, this is how Kennedy believes the public can win this final conflict:

THERE ARE nine main assaults on racketeering. Kennedy's most dramatic proposal calls for the summary dismissal of all ex-convicts from their union posts.

This means that any union "leader" anywhere with a long police sheet which has a conviction for arson, larceny, extortion, narcotics pushing, mayhem or any other major crime must be dropped from his post the moment the Kennedy bill becomes law.

If the ex-convict stays in office the Justice Dept. can automatically move in, demand his ejection and bring criminal proceedings against the union leaders. The union itself can also be fined heavily.

No union official ever will be able to draw dues money for yachts, homes or major items like convention hotel bills without everybody getting a real X-ray look at his personal accounts.

Kennedy's bill calls for full public disclosure of all salaries, expenses and other disbursements of every single official and employee who receives more than $7,000 annually from a union. This will include virtually every paid national and local labor leader.

WANT HAWAIIAN STATEHOOD — Interior Secretary Fred Seaton formally opened in Washington the Administration's fight for Hawaiian statehood. He appeared before House Interior and Insular Affairs Committee to ask for a 50th state. Looking at a booklet on the question are, left to right, Seaton, John A. Burns, Hawaiian delegate, and Rep. Wayne N. Aspinall (D-Colo.), committee chairman.

the rank and file. If they believe there's been a crooked election, the bill gives them the right to ask the secretary of labor of the U.S. to investigate. He would have subpoena powers.

He could seize all records affecting the election (any records for that matter). He would then have the right to set the election aside — whether a local or an international union was involved.

The proposed law would give him the power to call new elections. He could see to it that no intricate union statute kept any member from voting or running for office so long as his dues were paid on any day of the month, not just on the first of each month as is called for in the Teamster by laws.

There are six specific rules against any union official, who earns more than $5,000 a year, buying into companies which deal with his labor outfit, thus causing a conflict of interest.

There are proposals against union loans to officials of more than $1,500; proposals against employer loans to union men and proposals against the use of picket lines for extortion.

If we, the people, get all this written into law this year, some of our heartaches will have been worthwhile.
